

ABSTRACT

A pump plug for flowline operations, which pump plug has a resilient body and a flexible cage having a wear-resistant outer surface arranged around the resilient body, wherein the flexible cage has a tube having a first end and a second end, which tube is provided with a number of slits closed at at least one end.